PAPERS RELATING TO THE UNCOVENANTED CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS, MADRAS.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

Proceedings of the Madras Government.

From the Secretary to the Commissioner for the Uncovenanted Civil Service Examinations, to the Secretary to Government, Revenue Department, Fort Saint George, dated Madras, 2nd May 1868, No. 174.

1. It has been represented to the Commissioner that employés in the Revenue Department are subject to needless

7. Preciis-writing.

2. Thus, although a candidate becomes eligible for the position of Tahsildar on passing in Criminal Law in the General Revenue Test, in Translation, and in Preciis-writing, he has still to pass in the Salt Test, the Sea Customs Test, and the Account Test, before he is qualified to hold such inferior positions as those of Salt and Sea Customs Superintendent or Accountant in a Collector's Office.

3. A knowledge of Talook and Village Accounts, and of the Regulations regarding Customs and the Salt Monopoly, is required in the General Revenue Test, and the Commissioner is of opinion that any candidate, who has passed in this test in either grade, may be trusted to have such ability and such habits of industry as will enable him to master the detail to which the minor tests relate; as soon as he may be required to do so, in order to the proper discharge of his duty.

4. In G. O., 14th March 1866, No. 645, Revenue Department, the Government decided that a candidate must pass in the Salt Test before being eligible for the appointment of Salt Superintendent, although he had previously passed in the higher grade of the General Test; but experience has shown, in the opinion of the Commissioner, that a change in this ruling may be safely and advantageously made, and he accordingly proposes that the General Revenue Test may be considered to include the Salt, Sea Custom, and Account Tests, so that a candidate, who has passed in the greater test, may not be required to offer himself for examination in the lesser tests.

ORDER THEREON, 11th May 1868, No. 1,302.

The Government accept the Commissioner's recommendation, and authorize him to notify the change.

Secretary to Government.

PUBLIC DEPARTMENT.

Proceedings of the Madras Government.

From the Accountant-General, Madras, to the Chief Secretary to Government, Fort Saint George; dated Fort Saint George, 25th March 1868, No. 430.

Book Department.

I have the honour, with reference to paragraph 2 of Notification by the Secretary to the Commissioner for the Uncovenanted Civil Service Examinations, dated 7th June 1867, to state that, when I proposed the test necessary to qualify for the appointment of Superintendents and Clerks of this Office, I intended it to apply to candidates for admission into this Office—vide my letter to Government, No. 262, dated 9th February 1866, recorded in Government Order, No. 202, dated 7th July 1866, Educational Department; and to request, therefore, that Government will allow all the members of this office establishment, who, on 1st January 1868, were drawing Rupees 50 and upwards, to obtain promotion without compelling them to pass the Examination. Those who were then on receipt of less than Rupees 50 a month have been told that they must pass ere they can hold appointments above that sum. I make this difference, as Rupees 50 is the maximum pay of the lowest grade of Clerks in this office, the pay of which ranges from Rupees 30 to 50, the next grade being from Rupees 60 to Rupees 85.

Referred to the Commissioner for the Uncovenanted Civil Service Examinations.

FORT SAINT GEORGE,
7th April 1868.

(Signed) C. G. WALKER,
Under Secretary to Government.

From the Secretary to the Commissioner for the Uncovenanted Civil Service Examinations, to the Chief Secretary to Government, Fort Saint George; dated Madras, 7th May 1868, No. 178.

With reference to the Government Endorsement on a letter from the Accountant-General, requesting that all employes in his Office, who were drawing Rupees 50 per mensem on the 1st January 1868, may be exempted from the Special Test Examination, as far as promotion in the Office is concerned, I am directed to say, that, as the Accountant-General has given no special reason, why the exemption should be granted in the case of his Office alone, it should, if granted at all, be made applicable to all the appointments in the list published in the Commissioner's Notification of the 7th June 1867.

2. In the letter recorded in Government Proceedings, Educational Department, No. 182, of the 4th June 1867, the Commissioner noticed that a similar request had been made by the Inspector-General of Police, but considered that such cases should be left to be dealt with by references to Government as occasion might arise.

3. He is still of the same opinion.

ORDER THEREON, 22nd May 1868, No. 621.

The Governor in Council is not prepared to adopt the recommendation contained in the letter from the Accountant-General, above recorded.

Chief Secretary.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

Proceedings of the Madras Government.

From the Superintendent of Revenue Survey, to the Secretary to Government, Revenue Department, Fort Saint George, dated Chepauk, 29th May 1868, No. 784-25.

1. In September 1867, Captain Baynes, the Officer in charge of Madras Demarcation, raised the pay of two of his Head Goomastahs, named in the margin, the former from Rupees 20 to 25, and the latter from Rupees 15 to 20, as what they were receiving was inadequate. The Accountant-General, however, objected to the increase, on the score that they had not passed the prescribed test, and had not been continuously in Government service since 1st January 1859.

2. In my letter to the Accountant-General, dated 27th November 1867, No. 2,183-135, it was represented to him that the Order of Government dated 12th November 1866, No. 3,054, restricting the admission of unpassed men to appointments on salaries below Rs. 20, does not debar these men from promotion, inasmuch as the Demarcation having been, by G. O., as per margin,

12th December 1864,
No. 2,243.

transferred to the Revenue Survey, the exemption granted to Surveyors, &c., in Proceedings Madras Government, No. 299, of 10th February 1863, is applicable to Demarcation Head Goomastahs and Goomastahs, as they are on the field establishment, and are required to perform duties of an exceptional nature, in the performance of which they are liable to the same amount of exposure and hardship as Surveyors, Ameens, Goomastahs, &c., in the Survey. He was requested, (should he, notwithstanding the above representation, feel unauthorized to remove the objection,) with reference to G. O., dated 12th June 1866, No. 1,419, to submit my letter to Government for their orders.

3. I am now informed that such references should proceed direct from me, and I have the honour, therefore, to request that the Government will, for the reasons stated above, be pleased to accord sanction to include in the exemption granted in G. O., No. 299, of the 10th February 1863, all persons, with the exception of Clerks and Copyists employed in the Revenue Survey Department, in whatsoever branch they may be serving.

Letter, dated 23rd
May 1868, No. 963.

4. To show that every possible preference is given to passed candidates, I beg to state that out of thirty-five new appointments made during 1867, twelve have been conferred on men who have passed the General Test; but, as a rule, passed candidates cannot be induced to accept the appointments of Survey Ameen, Demarcation Goomastah, and others analogous to them, which involve continued exposure in the field, and unceasing travelling on small pay. If the rule be enforced, it will certainly be necessary to increase the rates of pay, of which, indeed, the unpassed men now drawing them already complain as insufficient.

ORDER THEREON, 17th June 1868, No. 1,702.

1. In the G. O. of 10th February 1863, No. 299, the Government, admitting the exceptional character of the Survey Department, resolved to exempt from the Examination Rules all Surveyors, Draughtsmen, and Lithographers employed in it, but retained the rules in the case of Clerks, Copyists, and Officers of that class.

2. Colonel Priestley now asks that the principle of this ruling may be extended, so as to include the field establishments of the Demarcation Department, which now works under him.

3. The Government recognize the analogy of the cases, and do not question the necessity for the proposed extension, consequent on the peculiar character of the work and the hardships incident to it.

4. They resolve accordingly to authorize the Accountant-General to pass the pay of all the field establishments of the Demarcation Department, without reference to the fact of the individuals concerned having passed the test or not; but it will be distinctly understood that the exemption operates only, so long as the individuals are employed in the Survey and Demarcation field establishments, and will not attach to them should they seek employment elsewhere, and that preference is to be given to passed candidates when available and otherwise equally qualified.

Secretary to Government.

PUBLIC DEPARTMENT.

Proceedings of the Madras Government.

From the Accountant-General, Madras, to the Chief Secretary to Government, Fort Saint George; dated Fort Saint George, 19th June 1868, No. 80.

Book Department.

I have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of the Order of Government in the Public Department, No. 621, dated 22nd ultimo, stating that Government are not prepared to adopt my recommendation that the members of this establishment, who, on the 1st January last, were drawing salaries of Rupees 50 and upwards, should be allowed to obtain promotion in due course without being required to undergo the Special Test Examination.

2. The ground upon which the Government have declined to accede to my recommendation is apparently the same as that given by the Secretary to the Commissioner for the Uncovenanted Civil Service Examinations, namely, that I had failed to give any special reason why the exemption should be granted in my office alone. I beg to express my regret for this omission, and, at the same time, I venture to solicit a re-consideration of the orders of Government on the following grounds.

3. The duties of this office are almost entirely of a technical nature, and cannot be satisfactorily discharged except by one who has acquired a thorough knowledge of the working of the department by a long and practical experience. For instance, a man may have a very good theoretical knowledge of Book-keeping, and be able to pass a satisfactory examination in all the other prescribed tests, and yet, I venture to say, he would be utterly unfit to take charge of the Books of this office. Again, a man may be an excellent Auditor, and capable of auditing the most intricate accounts; but, unless he is at the same time thoroughly acquainted with all the rules which regulate the leave and allowances of Civil Officers, he would be a very useless Auditor in my Department.

4. It may perhaps be urged that all the Accountants in the office fit for promotion ought to find no difficulty in passing so simple an examination as that prescribed, nor indeed would they if I could give them the time necessary to prepare for it; but this I cannot do, as my establishment is already overworked, and I cannot but fear that it would be precisely those men, who, having grown old in the service, have acquired by long practical experience a thorough knowledge of their duties, and are placed in the most responsible posts, who would most probably fail at the examination.

5. I would further observe that this office is divided into distinct departments, and an Assistant who may be thoroughly competent to keep the Books would be utterly at fault if examined in the Budget Manual, which is also one of the prescribed text-books. It is no doubt very desirable that an Assistant before entering the Office should have a knowledge both of Book-keeping and of the Budget Rules, in order that he may be employed in either department as occasion requires; and it was with this object in view, and also to exclude really incompetent men, that I recommended that all the Junior Assistants and new comers should undergo an examination before admission; but, as the office is at present constituted, it would certainly be productive of the greatest inconvenience, and might lead to a very grave error, if Assistants were shifted from one Department to another merely to enable them to obtain a knowledge of its duties, with a view to their passing the Special Test Examination.

6. Moreover, my office establishment has very recently been entirely re-organized, and is on quite a different footing from that of any other office in the Presidency, being divided into six classes, with progressive rates of pay attached to each, and promotion in it does not necessarily involve any change of duties, but is frequently given as reward for personal merit or proved efficiency; and in such cases there certainly could be no necessity for an examination, as the duties and responsibility of the Assistant are unchanged.

7. I beg, however, that it may not be supposed that I am opposed to the principles of these examinations; on the contrary, I consider them well adapted to increase the efficiency of our office establishments. It is only the sudden introduction of the change, and its applicability to the senior hands of the office, who look to promotion in it as a reward for their long service and proved efficiency, that I deprecate. Gradually the office will be filled with passed Assistants, and there will then be no difficulty in selecting from among them men well-qualified to fill the higher appointments; but, as the office is at present constituted, to declare that no man shall be entitled to promotion until he has passed the required examination will bear very hardly on the old hands, and would, at the same time, be productive of very serious inconvenience in the transaction of business.

Referred to the Commissioner for the Uncovenanted Civil Service Examinations, for his remarks.

FORT SAINT GEORGE,
22nd June 1868.

(Signed) C. G. WALKER,
Under Secy. to Govt.

From the Secretary to the Commissioner for the Uncovenanted Civil Service Examinations, to the Under Secretary to Government, Fort Saint George ; dated Madras, 1st July 1868, No. 238.

With reference to your docket, dated 22nd ultimo, calling for the remarks of the Commissioner for the Uncovenanted Civil Service Examinations on the letter of the Accountant-General, under date 19th idem, stating that Officer's reasons for recommending the Assistants in his office on salaries above Rupees 50 per mensem being exempted from passing the Account Test Examination, I am directed by the Commissioner to inform you that he considers the reasons put forward by the Accountant-General are of considerable force, but, at the same time, is of opinion that similar reasons might be urged by the Heads of Departments generally, and the best course, therefore, will be to exempt from examination those special cases only in which the Accountant-General may assure the Government that the public interests will suffer by adhering to the rules.

ORDER THEREON, 4th August 1868, No. 933.

On consideration of the foregoing papers, the Governor in Council resolves to exempt Assistants employed in the Accountant-General's Office, as Accountants, on salaries not exceeding 75 Rupees per mensem, from passing the test in Precis-writing. This exemption will be extended to all Accountants in other offices in the Presidency and in the Provinces whose salaries do not exceed Rupees 75 per mensem.

2. The Government will be prepared to take into consideration applications for exemption from the Precis Test in behalf of employés in other Departments, on special reasons being given for this indulgence.

Chief Secretary.

PUBLIC DEPARTMENT.

Proceedings of the Madras Government.

From the Accountant-General, Madras, to the Chief Secretary to Government, Fort Saint George; dated Fort Saint George, 16th July 1868, No. 102.

Post Audit Department.

I have the honour to inquire whether the orders of Government in the Public Department, No. 1,101, dated 28th July 1860, are applicable only to those servants who lost their employments by revision of establishments in the Revenue Department, or were intended to apply generally to servants in all departments, and to supersede the Notification of Government, dated 6th May 1859.

Gazette, page 909.

2. Hitherto, this Department has permitted the employment of men, who, after five years' service, lost their posts by revision of the Revenue establishments, without reference to Government in each case; but, in regard to men in other departments of the Service similarly situated, it has, in terms of the Notification in question, required that they should be specially exempted by Government. There appears, however, to be no reason for the distinction, and I beg, therefore, to be informed whether servants of all departments alike should not be dealt with under the Orders of 28th July 1860, No. 1,101, referred to above.

ORDER THEREON, 11th August 1868, No. 971.

From the above letter, it appears that, since the issue of the Order of Government, No. 1,101, of the 28th July 1860, all persons thrown out of employ by reduction in the Revenue establishments, after five years' regular employment, have been allowed to be re-appointed without passing examination, and without the reference to Government which has been made in each case in other departments.

2. The Government observe that this exemption has been beyond the terms of the Order, which referred only to those who had been thrown out by the "recent revisions" which took place so largely about the time of the Order.

3. The Government consider that no grounds whatever exist for a distinction between Revenue and other Departments in the question of liability to examination.

On general grounds, it would appear that the part of the Notification of the 6th May 1859, which refers to persons unemployed from reduction of establishment, is, under present circumstances, an unnecessary restriction, the consent of Government never being refused to the re-employment, in similar posts to those held before, of persons unemployed in consequence of reductions.

4. The restrictions on re-employment, of course, refer only to those who wish to be employed in posts for which examination is prescribed as necessary, and, now that the General Test Rules have been in full operation for nine years, there can be no persons employed in superior posts (above Rupees 20) who have not either, (1st) passed the examination, or (2nd) been exempted, having been in the service prior to 1st January 1859, or (3rd) by special order of Government, this special order being either a general exemption, or a special exemption granted to permit of appointment to a particular post. There are, therefore, four cases to be provided for, of men unemployed from reduction of establishment and seeking re-employment—

1st.—Passed men.

2nd.—Men exempted from the General Test Rules, from having been in employ since 1st January 1859

3rd.—Men exempted by Government Order generally from the Rules of the General Test.

4th.—Men formerly exempted by Government Order as a special case for appointment to a particular post.

The first three classes should be eligible for re-employment without further question; the last has no claim, unless similarly recommended for a particular post, on the ground of a passed candidate not being available.

5. The following Notification will therefore be published :—

NOTIFICATION.

In supersession of former orders on the subject, the following Rules are laid down with reference to the re-employment of persons who have lost their posts, consequent on the reduction of establishments :—

I. All persons thrown out of employment, consequent on a reduction or revision of establishments, who come within the following classes, are eligible for re-employment in posts of which the salaries exceed Rupees 20, on proof, in each case, of the qualification claimed :—

1st.—Persons who have passed the General Test Examination.

2nd.—Persons who have been continuously in Government employment from the 1st January 1859 to the time of the reduction which threw them out of employ, the breaks in whose service, if any, have been caused by previous reductions.

3rd.—Persons who have been generally exempted by Order of Government from the operation of the General Test Rules.

II. Persons who have been exempted by Government, with a view to appointment to a particular post, will not be eligible to re-employment in posts above Rupees 20, unless again exempted, or after passing the examinations.

2. These rules refer only to persons, candidates for appointments of greater value than Rupees 20. For appointments of lower value, no examination is required.

(By order of the Governor in Council.)

Chief Secretary.

JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT.

Proceedings of the Madras Government.

From the Magistrate of the Royapettah Police Court, to the Chief Secretary to Government, Fort Saint George; dated Madras, 3rd August 1868.

The Special Tests prescribed for the post of Head Clerk of a Police Court are, "Translation, Lower Grade, and Preciſ-writing"—Vide Fort Saint George Gazette, 11th June 1867, page 1,375. At the time these tests were fixed, the Head Clerk of a Police Court drew a salary of only 50 Rupees. It was, therefore, necessary to adopt a somewhat low standard. Government in their Order, dated 21st February 1867, No. 50, Educational Department, laid down "Criminal Law, Lower Grade, and Preciſ-writing," as the tests to be required from candidates

* Dated 7th June 1867. for the post of Head Clerk of a Police Court; but in the Notification* by the Commissioner for the Uncovenanted Civil Service Examinations, published in the Gazette, "Translation, Lower Grade," was substituted for "Criminal Law, Lower Grade." The alteration was probably owing to the fact that, under the old scale of establishment, the Head Clerk was the only person available to act as Interpreter during the occasional absence of the Court Interpreter.

2. Government having now placed the establishment of this Court on a much more efficient footing than existed at the time the orders above referred to were passed in the Educational Department, by assigning to the principal Clerk a salary of Rupees 120, and Rupees 70 and 50 to two subordinate officials, I think a higher standard of examination may fairly be exacted from candidates for the post of Chief Clerk.

3. In Police Courts the proceedings are conducted in the English language; no Vernacular depositions or processes are recorded or made out, therefore a thorough acquaintance with the English language, a good legal knowledge, and familiarity with Rules of Practice, is of more consequence in the efficient discharge of the duties of the principal Clerk of a Police Court than mere ability to translate a Vernacular paper.

4. In order to avoid confusing the tests required for the principal Clerk under the new scale† with those hitherto laid down for Head Clerks on salaries of Rs. 50 per mensem, I beg to suggest that such principal Clerk be termed "Chief Clerk" or "Manager," and that the Special Tests to be required from candidates for such an appointment be—

Criminal Law, Higher Grade;
Civil Law, Lower Grade; and Precis-writing.

That the other Clerks, subordinate to the Chief Clerk, on salaries of Rupees 70 and 50 respectively, continue to be termed Head Clerk and Assistant Head Clerk, respectively; such appointments remaining subject to the Special Tests already prescribed for Head Clerks of Police Courts.

5. My colleague concurs in the above recommendations.

ORDER THEREON, 15th August 1868, No. 1,288.

The Governor in Council approves and sanctions the proposal of the Magistrate of the Royapettah Police Court, that the principal Clerk of that Court be hereafter styled Chief Clerk, or Manager, and that candidates for the appointment be required to pass in Criminal Law, Higher Grade; Civil Law, Lower Grade; and in Precis-writing. The Clerks, subordinate to the Chief Clerk, on salaries of Rupees 70 and 50 respectively, will continue to be styled Head Clerk and Assistant Head Clerk, and these appointments will be subject to the Special Tests already prescribed for Head Clerks of Police Courts.

(Signed) R. S. ELLIS,
Chief Secretary.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

Proceedings of the Madras Government.

From the Special Executive Engineer, Wynaad, to the Secretary to Government, Public Works Department, dated Luckadie, 10th September 1868, No. 498.

1. With reference to G. O., No. 4,085, dated 22nd December 1866, I shall be much obliged if sanction can be given to the entertainment of members for my Office establishment irrespective of their having passed the Uncovenanted Service Examination.

2. Service in Wynaad is so unpopular on account of the climate, expense of living, and, moreover, the small field (compared with a large division) for promotion, that it is very difficult indeed to get men capable of discharging the duties required; and the difficulty becomes greatly increased if the qualification above referred to is insisted on.

3. By way of illustration I would beg to mention that, although I continually advertised in the Gazette, the post of Draughtsman in my office remained vacant for twelve months; it was at last filled by a candidate from the Civil Engineering College, who however held the post only for four months, lost his health, proceeded on sick leave, and died on the 12th August 1868. Another member of my Office, Mr. Rozario, was employed as Clerk on a salary of Rupees 40; he was not a passed candidate when entertained; his health also gave way, and he died on 6th July last. In his place I transferred Mr. deSouza from the petty establishment of the Vythery Range to the vacant post; but objection is now made, as you will see, to his appointment by the Acting

* No. 2,325, dated 4th September 1868.

Controllor, whose Memorandum* I forward. Mr. deSouza is likely to make a very good Clerk, in fact, throughout a greater part of last month, he was doing the whole work of both Vythery Range and my own Office; he is studying to qualify himself, and proposes presenting himself for examination in February. At the present time my Head Clerk Mr. Jacques, and deSouza, are the only members of the Office establishment effective. The Vythery Range Office is entirely denuded, and I have neither Draughtsman nor Copyist in the Head Office.

4. I think I have now said enough to show good cause why an exception should be made in favour of Wynaad, as it would be quite hopeless to expect to get any one on a salary of less than 20 Rupees, and very difficult, from the causes before mentioned, to get passed candidates, the result would be to throw everything into arrears and confusion.

ORDER THEREON, 18th September 1868, No. 2,960.

Under the special circumstances represented in this letter, the Government exempt the members of Captain Kennedy's Office establishment from the operation of the Uncovenanted Service Examination Rules.

Secretary to Government.

EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT.

Proceedings of the Madras Government.

From the Secretary to the Commissioner for the Uncovenanted Civil Service Examinations, to the Chief Secretary to Government, Fort Saint George; dated Madras, 9th October 1868.

By desire of the Commissioner, I have the honour to forward, herewith, five copies of his Report on the Uncovenanted Civil Service Examinations held during the year 1867-68.

REPORT from the Commissioner for the Uncovenanted Civil Service Examinations, to the Chief Secretary to Government, dated Madras, 26th September 1868, No. 429.

The following examinations were held during the year 1867-68 :—

- (1.) Modified Special Test Examination in July 1867.
- (2.) The Special Test Examination in August 1867.
- (3.) The General Test Examination in February 1868.

2. The Modified Special Test Examination was the fifth and last of those instituted by G. O., 8th April 1865, No. 766, for the benefit of Officials of long standing in the service. It was held on the 25th and 26th July, and resulted in the success of ten out of nineteen candidates. The answers were inferior.

3. Five of these examinations have been held half-yearly, and seventy-five of the candidates have been declared eligible for the post of Tahsildar and Sub-Magistrate.

4. The Special Test Examination commenced on the 26th August, and lasted seven days. It included for the first time a Test for Pleaders in District Moonsiffs' Courts, as laid down in G. O., 11th June 1866, No. 231. The papers set in Evidence and Civil Procedure were the same as those set for the Lower Grade of the Judicial Test, and those in Hindu and Mahomedan Law were the same as those set for the Higher Grade of that Test. The other tests were made applicable to many appointments which had hitherto been exempt from the operation of the rules; candidates for the Higher Grade of the Translation Test were required to pass in two languages instead of one, and officials of seven or eight years' standing were allowed to pass the Salt Test in English or a Vernacular at their option, instead of being required to do so in English. These changes were introduced, in accordance with G. O., 4th June 1867, No. 182.

5. The number of candidates for the Special Test Examination was 2,866, or 1,330 more than in 1866. Of these 876 were candidates for the new Test for Pleaders in District Moonsiffs' Courts. The following statement shows the numbers registered and examined in each Test, and the result as compared with that of the previous two years :—

No.	Tests.	No. registered in 1867.	No. examined in 1867.	No. passed in 1867.	No. passed in 1866.	No. passed in 1865.

6. The per-centage of successful candidates in the principal subjects was as follows :—

Tests.	1865.	1866.	1867.
I. A ...	76	48	41
II. A ...	79	42	51
I. B ...	83	75	61

Pleaders in District Moonsiffs' Courts	14

7. The severity of the examination in the Law of Evidence, in which all candidates were required to pass and obtain half marks, lowered the per-centage in the Judicial Tests. It should be remarked, however, that, in consideration of the great difficulty of this part of the examination, I made some allowance in the case of men who obtained only two-fifths of full marks, but did well in other subjects. The papers set in the Revenue Regulations and the Orders of the Board of Revenue were harder than usual. The almost universal failure to pass in Translation can only be accounted for on the supposition that every one who has a smattering of English thinks he can pass, and that as such superficial knowledge extends, the number of unfit candidates increases. The average of marks assigned in this subject was very low. On the other hand, the improvement in the Higher Grade of the Precis-writing Test is most satisfactory, and shows that a sound knowledge of English, and habits of thought, qualifications, which can only be gauged by this part of the Examination, are gaining ground.

8. The following Statement shows the languages in which candidates wrote their answers :—

9. The numbers opposite to II B. and III B. confirm the belief that English is gaining ground amongst Natives employed in the Uncovenanted Service.

10. I now subjoin a Statement, such as I was unable to give last year, showing the number of candidates, who, having passed in one or more Tests, completed their qualifications for the different offices in 1867-68 :—

No.	Offices.	Number who completed their qualifications.

14. The Judicial Examiners complain, as might be expected, of the addiction of candidates to sheer "cram," Mr. Nelson observes that the candidates have, almost to a man, endeavoured to commit the text-books to memory rather than understand the contents, and that questions which required a little thought and care evoked most unsatisfactory and often ludicrous answers. Mr. Brandt ascribes an unusually high average of marks in Norton's Law of Evidence, partly to the fact that many questions being in the words of the book gave a clue to the answers, and he considered the Penal Code papers as on the whole good. All the Examiners in Revenue, as well as Law, found the answers given in Vernaculars very bad, and Mr. Brandt remarks that in the Penal Code, Lower Grade, the most faulty papers were those of Police Officers and Constables, and accounts for it by their being self-taught and of an advanced age. Many of their papers, however, showed a good knowledge of the subject.

15. Mr. Price reports that the papers* examined by him were throughout very unsatisfactory, the chief fault of the candidates being extreme carelessness, and their object quantity, and not quality. Comparing

* Revenue Regulations and Circular Orders of the Board of Revenue.

NOTE.—The papers in Indian Penal Code, Higher Grade, Criminal Procedure Code, Higher Grade, and Norton's Law of Evidence were set by Mr. C. R. Pelly, who was obliged to leave Madras before the Examination took place.

the different papers, he says: "I may mention that I have been more satisfied with the papers of candidates educated at the Provincial and Presidency Schools than with those of persons educated elsewhere. The candidates from the Combaconum School in particular are remarkable for good style, good handwriting, and absence of mistakes. I could in almost every instance tell from reading the papers that the candidate had received his education at this establishment." He also speaks well of the papers sent in by Inspectors of Police.

20. The number registered and examined was greater than in any previous year, but the per-centage of success was lower than it has ever been, except in 1865. I attribute this partly to the increased severity of the examination in Handwriting, Spelling and Dictation, and partly to the increasing eagerness which is shown to use this examination, not only as a key to the Uncovenanted Service, but as a touch-stone of ordinary education. With the increasing numbers which present themselves every year, there is an increasing proportion of youths, whose mere smattering of knowledge gives but little chance of passing, but this is an evil which will be diminished by time and the progress of education, whilst the advantage which the institution presents of offering a standard by which the less ambitious schools may compare themselves and be stimulated to greater efforts will remain.

Handwriting.—In the part of the examination which relates to hand-writing an important change was made. The mini-num was raised from twenty-five in a hundred to forty, and, in Vernaculars as well as in English, candidates were required to write with extreme plainness and separate their words. As might be expected, the per-centage of failures was higher than it has been before, but the improvement which resulted from the change of system, which was made known long before hand, in Tamil, Telugu, and Canarese, was very gratifying. V. Krishnamah Chari, who has given special attention to this subject, expresses himself surprised and pleased at the great improvement in the style of Telugu papers which has already been produced. The Rev. Mr. Bower considered the Tamil writing very good, but the other Examiners do not regard it so favourably. Many of the Malayalum candidates, Mr. Garthwaite reports, seem to be unaware, or careless of the change which had been introduced.

22. The system of valuing papers in Dictation and Spelling was modified, so as to secure fair orthography from all

English	25	successful candidates. The rules previously given
Telugu	55	for deducting marks were made less stringent, and
Tamil	24	more was left to the discretion of the Examiners.
Malayalum	59	The per-centage of failures accordingly increased;
Canarese	57	but, compared with the previous year, the result of the examination was satisfactory. In English there was a great improvement.

GRAMMAR AND COMPOSITION.

English	59	23. The greater part of the unsuccessful can-

Canarese	24	unfavourable. The marked advance in the latter subject, observable in 1867, has not been so permanent as I hoped. The paper was a very fair one.

24. History and Geography.—The results in History are favourable, and in Geography unfavourable, but this is partly attributable to the easiness of the History paper. The minimum in these subjects is so low, that candidates pay little or no attention to it. I think the time has now come when it may be raised from $\frac{1}{10}$ to one-fifth, and I propose to do this at the next examination.

25. During the year under review, the system of Uncovenanted Civil Service Examinations, viewed as a Government Institution for supplying candidates qualified by previous mental cultivation for public employment as far as it can be tested by examination, has continued to be successful. Viewed as a test of education, it shows neither an advance nor a retrogression.

ORDER THEREON, 5th November 1868, No. 372.

With the letter above recorded, the Commissioner for the Uncovenanted Civil Service Examinations submits his Report on the examinations held during the year 1867-68, viz., the Modified Special Test Examination in July 1867, the Special Test Examination in August 1867, and the General Test Examination in February 1868.

2. The result of the first mentioned examination is shown to be ten successful candidates out of nineteen who presented themselves, the answers being considered inferior. The total number of candidates for the second examination was 2,866 or 1,330 more than in 1866. Of these 876 were candidates for the new Test for Pleaders in District Moonsiffs' Courts. The low per-centage in the Judicial Tests is attributed to the severity of the examination in the Law of Evidence. In Translation, the examination was pronounced almost a universal failure, and this unsatisfactory result is accounted for on the supposition that every one, who has a smattering of English, thinks he can pass. The Commissioner observes that, as such superficial knowledge extends, the number of unfit candidates increases. The result of the Higher Grade of the Precis is stated to be satisfactory, and the Government concur in the opinion expressed that the improvement shows that a sound knowledge of English and habits of thought are gaining ground. The languages in which the candidates passed the Tests, given in the margin, confirm this opinion.

3. Twenty candidates were pronounced qualified for the Police Test, which included the lower grade of the Judicial Test, and a paper on departmental subjects. The total number of candidates who presented themselves for examination was 195.

4. It is observed that, in the opinion of the Judicial Examiners, the candidates in their answers generally relied on their memory, and did not appear to have comprehended the contents of text-books. Mr. Brandt ascribes the unusually high average of marks in Norton's Law of Evidence, partly to the fact that many questions, being in the words of the book, gave a clue to the answers. The Vernacular papers in Law, as well as in Revenue, are considered discreditable. While it is remarked that the most faulty papers in the Penal Code were those of Police Officers and Constables, on the other hand it is stated that many of these papers showed a good knowledge of the subject, and were by men self-taught and of advanced age. The Examiner in the Revenue Regulations and in the Orders of the Board of Revenue notices the superiority of the papers of candidates educated at the Provincial and Presidency Schools. The excellence of the education given at the Combaconum School was very remarkable. Mr. Price says "the candidates from the Combaconum School, in particular, are remarkable for good style, good handwriting, and absence of mistakes; I could in almost every instance tell from reading the papers that the candidate had received his education at this establishment." The Commissioner remarks that the papers set in the Revenue Regulations and Orders of the Board of Revenue were harder than usual.

5. The number of candidates who passed the General Test in all districts is 732. Of this number, 155 passed from Madras, being more than one-half of the number (54) of candidates passed from the Coimbatore District, which stands second in the classification. Though the number registered and examined was greater than in any previous year, yet the per-centage of success was lower than it has ever been, except in 1865. This failure is attributed to the increased severity of the examination in handwriting, spelling, and dictation, and partly to the increasing eagerness which is shown to use this examination, not only as a key to the Uncovenanted Service, but as a touch-stone of ordinary education. The Telugu and Tamil Examiners report favourably of the handwriting of the candidates. The result of the examination in dictation and spelling in all languages is considered satisfactory.

6. The Government concur with the Commissioner in thinking that, during the year under review, the system of Uncovenanted Civil Service Examinations, viewed as a Government institution for supplying candidates qualified by previous mental cultivation for public employment, as far as it can be tested by examination, has continued to be successful. Viewed as a test of education, it shows neither an advance nor a retrogression.

7. The proposal to raise the minimum in History and Geography to one-fifth at the next examination, is approved.

8. The statement of receipts and disbursements shows that Rupees 36,936 were realized by fees, and that the expenses (excluding the Secretary's salary) connected with examinations left a balance of Rupees 6,455, which was reduced to Rupees 1,005, by the purchase of furniture.

JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT.

Proceedings of the Madras Government.

From the Acting Inspector-General of Police, to the Chief Secretary to Government, Fort Saint George; dated Madras, 7th December 1868, No. 6841-2244.

General Department.

I have the honour to request the sanction of Government for the establishment of a small fee—I would propose 3 rupees—to be paid by candidates for the Police Inspector's Text Examination.

2. Some such restriction is required to limit the number of candidates to those who have carefully prepared for the examination, and so reduce the labour of the officers who examine the papers.

3. Hitherto the proportion of candidates, who pass to the total number examined, has been unduly small. I think that the establishment of a small fee would operate well in all ways. At present, the short visit to the chief town of the district may sometimes induce an unqualified candidate to appear, and the practice of "trying one's luck," year after year, until at last a pass is somehow obtained, indicates slipshod study, which must result in imperfect knowledge. The necessity of paying a fee would stimulate diligence.

Referred for the report of the Commissioner for the Uncovenanted Civil Service Examinations.

FORT SAINT GEORGE,
9th December 1868.

(Signed) R. S. ELLIS,
Chief Secretary.

From the Secretary to the Commissioner for the Uncovenanted Civil Service Examinations, to the Chief Secretary to Government, Fort Saint George; dated Madras, 18th January 1869, No. 40.

With reference to the letter of the Acting Inspector-General of Police, dated 7th ultimo, referred to the Commissioner for the Uncovenanted Civil Service Examinations for report, I have the honour to state, by direction of the Commissioner, that he quite agrees with Major Hearn, in thinking that the establishment of a small fee to be paid by candidates for the Police Inspector's Test "would operate well in all ways," and, besides the reasons adduced by that officer for imposing a fee, the Commissioner would add financial considerations. At present, the cost of translating the test papers, and examining the answers of the Police candidates, is heavy, and is unduly increasing. The Commissioner would recommend the imposition of a fee of four rupees on each candidate for the Inspectors' Test, the usual fee charged in other cases, and rather under than over the cost to the Commission of each Police candidate's examination.

ORDER THEREON, 28th January 1869, No. 142.

Concurring in the views expressed by the Acting Inspector-General of Police, and the Commissioner for the Uncovenanted Civil Service Examinations, His Excellency the Governor in Council sanctions the imposition of a fee of four (4) rupees on each candidate for the Police Inspectors' Text Examination.

(Signed) R. S. ELLIS,
Chief Secretary.

APPENDIX A.

Papers relating to the Special Test Examinations of 1868.

NOTIFICATION.

The Commissioner for the Uncovenanted Civil Service Examinations notifies that the next annual Examination in the subjects prescribed for Special Tests under the Revised Rules published under date the 3rd January and 27th June 1866, and 22nd January and 7th June 1867, will be held on the 24th and six following days of August next at the places given below :—

Masulipatam,	Cuddalore,	Trichinopoly,	Bangalore.
Kurnool,	Salem,	Madura,
Cuddapah,	Coimbatore,	Palamcottah,

2. Candidates must send in their applications in the annexed form, so as to reach the Collectors of the Districts* in which they desire to be examined on or before the 15th of June next, after which date no applications will, under any circumstances, be received.

3. Every application must be accompanied by the prescribed fee specified in the Notification, dated 7th June 1867, and published in the Fort Saint George Gazette for that date. This must be paid in every case without exception. Fees paid by candidates will not be returned to them, or reserved for another examination.

* For Trivandrum and Bangalore the applications should be sent to the Resident of Travancore and Director of Public Instruction, Mysore, respectively.

4. Each application must also be accompanied by the required Vaccination Certificate, except in the cases of candidates who produced such certificates at the examinations held subsequent to the 31st December 1863.

5. Candidates, (with the exception of those for the office of Pleader in District Moonsiffs' Courts,) who have not been employed continuously in the Public Service since the 1st January 1859, (in grades other than that of village kurnum, or monegar, peon, &c., which require a knowledge of reading and writing,) will not be admitted to the Special Test Examinations, unless they have passed the General Test at some previous examination, or have been exempted therefrom by special order of Government.

6. Candidates coming up for one or more tests at the same time under Rule I. will submit a single application for all such tests.

7. No candidates will be allowed to appear for examination in Tests I A., II A., III A., I B., V., and VI. in a Vernacular language, unless specially permitted by an order of Government to do so. In the latter case, candidates should quote in their applications the date and number of such order.

8. Candidates may apply for examination in the Lower Grade of Test VII. at the same time as the other tests mentioned in Rule I. Candidates taking up Tests I A. and II A. may, if they have done sufficiently well, and if the Commissioner permits, be passed for Pleaders in District Moonsiffs' Courts; but candidates for the test for Pleaders in District Moonsiffs' Courts cannot be admitted to examination in any other test.

9. The attention of candidates for the Higher Grade of Test VII. is called to the Notification, dated 7th June 1867, under which they will be required to pass in two languages. They will execute the translation of the difficult official paper and the interpretation in one language, and the translation of the easier official paper in the other language. In their applications they should specify the two languages in which they wish to be examined, and name the one in which they desire to pass the more difficult part of the test.

10. Candidates in the Police Department, who may apply for examination in the "Police Test" alone, should submit their applications direct to the Inspector-General of Mofussil Police, and not to the Collector of the District in which they are employed. Such candidates, as heretofore, will not be required to pay a fee or produce a Vaccination Certificate. Candidates not in the Police Department will be admitted to the examination for the Police Test on the production of a recommendation from the Superintendent of the District in which they seek employment, and on conforming to the rules with respect to payment of fees, Medical Certificate, &c. Candidates belonging to the Police, who

4. How is the Ledger balanced or closed, and what is its object ?

5. Mr. J. at Madras has an agent Mr. S. at Bangalore. The former remitted to the latter in January 1868 a sum of 500 rupees. Mr. S. collected in that month 220 rupees on account of the revenue of the Village Mundiem belonging to Mr. J. In the beginning of the month he had a balance of Rupees 55 in favour of Mr. J ; and he disbursed during the month 150 rupees for the establishment maintained in the Village above-mentioned, 650 rupees for the repair of a tank in it, and 100 rupees for a horse, which he purchased and sent to Mr. J. Put these transactions in the form of an Account Current to be forwarded by Mr. S. to Mr. J. after the close of January.

6. Write down from the above transactions the necessary entries in the form of a journal under the double entry system, to be kept by Mr. J.

BUDGET MANUAL.

1. What information does the Budget Estimate of Receipts and Charges submitted by Collectors to the Board furnish ? And on what data, and in what manner are these estimates framed ?

2. Can the Local Government sanction an increase of charge in a fixed establishment ; and if so, in what cases, and how ?

3. In what cases can the Local Government authorize transfers of Budget provision from one head to another, and how ? And in what cases do they require the sanction of the Government of India ?

4. Are any reserves allowed in the Budget Estimates to meet unforeseen charges ? If not how, and in what manner are deficiencies in any particular item of charge met in the course of the year ?

5. Can the actual disbursement of any one year be met from the unexpended balances of Budget grants of the previous year ? If not, why, and what become of such unexpended balances ? What is the course observed if the grant sanctioned in one year's Budget, but not spent within that year be required for expenditure in the following year ?

6. On what basis is the estimate of Cash requirements to be submitted to the Government of India prepared ? And what information does it furnish, and how does it differ from the Budget Estimate ?

Translate the following passages into the Vernacular :—

Wherever the Government can and will undertake irrigation works, I am distinctly of opinion that this is the right course. I feel persuaded that such would be the view of the mass of the agriculturists.

The people are accustomed to see the Government undertake such works, and its peculiar interest in the shape of land revenue, in all matters connected with the soil, naturally points to such a policy as an important public duty. Many questions in social life, and many more connected with the land, will from time to time arise in which the interests of the people and those of a private company will be in conflict. In such cases the State would deal more leniently with private interests than a company would usually be willing to do. Then, again, it is of much importance that the State should not forego the great financial advantages which would accrue from well-considered and well-executed irrigation works. India is on the whole a poor country. The mass of its people enjoy only a scanty subsistence, and they are impatient of taxation, except where it is of that peculiar nature to which they have long been accustomed.

The duty of an European Judge, who is under the obligation to administer Hindu Law, is not so much to inquire whether a disputed doctrine is fairly deducible from the earliest authorities, as to ascertain whether it has been received by the particular school which governs the district with which he has to deal, and has there been sanctioned by usage. For under the Hindu system of law, clear proof of usage will outweigh the written text of the law. The Respondent Ramalinga insists that, tried by either test, the proposition for which he contends will be found to be correct.

I am of opinion that flogging should be retained for mutinous and insubordinate conduct in jail. In such cases it is the only appropriate punishment. With these two exceptions I would entirely abrogate it. In the first place it is a cruel punishment, and the natives of India—I speak of the masses—are cruel enough already. Witness the constant instances which occur of the most savage and barbarous discipline exercised by parents on their children ; husbands on their wives. We should educate them in a contrary direction. In the next place, while such punishment would break the heart of any man of a decent social position, it would not deter generally those who live by crime, or the atrocity of whose conduct in any particular case betrays their radical corruption ; unless, indeed, flogging is to be carried on like knouting. I am confident that by working Sec. 59 of the Penal Code, the greatest possible terror falls on the entire criminal population of a Zillah. Imprisonment in India of double the length is nothing to it. The convict is at least among his own people, hears his own language, and has opportanities of occasionally seeing his relatives. But if sentenced to transportation, he droops at once; and on leaving the Court, the Judge is surrounded by a crowd of the prisoner's friends, who literally howl for mercy, and never leave off doing so either at the gate of the Judge's dwelling, or as he passes to and from the Sessions House, until such time as the convict is shipped to his destination.

PRECIS PAPERS.

Letter from the Collector of the Kistna District, to the Secretary to the Board of Revenue, dated Vinnukonda, 20th December 1866, No. 408.

1. I have the honor to submit, for the consideration and orders of the Board of Revenue, the following report on the claim advanced by Rajah Malrauze Venkata Condul Row, in respect of certain topes enjoyed by the late Malrauze Lakshmiah, widow of late Rajah Malrauze Venkata Gunda Row, till her death.

2. From the report received from the Tahsildar, it appears that these topes were raised by the petitioner's ancestors of the Malrauze family for charitable purposes, and held by them successively till the demise of the late Lakshmiah, who held the estate for some time, and afterwards received the monthly allowance of Rupees 1,000.

4. The applicant bases his claim to all these garden lands on the ground that he is the heir of the original planters, and that other topes, which were similarly planted in former years in the Malrauze estate by others, with the permission of his forefathers, the former Zemindars, have been recognized and enfranchised by the Inam Commissioner as Inams, and he, therefore, prays that the gardens in question may be likewise treated as Inams, and put in his possession. With this statement of the case, I beg to be favoured with the Board's instructions as to the disposal of the claim.

5. I see no reason why the charitable gardens* should not be
 A. G. made over to him with a view to their improvement,
 * 108 21 and on condition of continuing them as charitable topes.

6. I do not see how the lands, already incorporated with Seri, and now occupied by ryots, can be restored to the petitioner without the consent of the occupiers.

Proceedings of the Board of Revenue thereon, dated 18th January 1868, No. 352.

1. The Board cannot deal with the case without further information. The Collector should state what estate he refers to, the former and present circumstances of the family, the connection of the petitioner with it, the present position of the estate, the time when, and the circumstances under which, the topes were made over to the present holders.

2. In fact, the Collector should state the case fully in all its bearings.

Letter from the Collector of the Kistna District, to the Secretary to the Board of Revenue, dated Masulipatam, 30th March 1867, No. 86.

1. With reference to the Proceedings of the Board, dated 18th January, No. 352, calling for further information regarding the claim of Rajah Malrauze Condul Row, I have the honour to report that Malrauze Venkata Gunda Row was formerly Zemindar of the Bellumkonda, Vinnukonda, and other Purganas in the Guntoor District, which was ceded to the British Government in 1788. The permanent settlement of these estates was made with him, and a cowle granted on 9th April 1802.

2. In November 1818, Venkata Gunda Row gave charge of his estates to the Collector of the late Guntoor District, proposing to resign his right in the estate to the Government on condition of a permanent pension of Madras Pagodas 28,430-34-16 a year being allowed to him and to his heirs; but, as the Board were desirous to ascertain the then value of the estates, before they submitted the above proposal to Government, they authorized the Collector, at the Zemindar's request, to take temporary charge of the estate on his behalf. Pending this arrangement, Venkata Gunda Row died in the year 1819, leaving behind him a Will, confirming the transfer to Government of his lands as originally proposed, and bequeathing the pension, without specifying the amount, to one Mulla Row, the husband of the daughter of Pedda Gunda Row, uncle to Venkata Gunda Row, deceased.

3. Venkata Gunda Row left no issue, and the fact, that his widow Malrauze Lakshmiah was still living, was not then brought to the notice of Government. She and the two widows of Pedda Gunda Row, whose share in the proprietary lands was, previous to the permanent settlement, resumed by Government and settled on Venkata Gunda Row at the time of permanent settlement, claimed succession to the estates.

4. As the collections from the estates fell short of the Government Jumma during the Collector's temporary management, the Board recommended to Government that the estates should be made over to the rightful claimant.

5. The Government thereupon decided that the lands of the deceased Venkata Gunda Row should be detained in the Collector's hands until the claimants should establish their rights to the property in the Courts.

6. It was afterwards ascertained that the widows of Pedda Gunda Row did not lay any claim to the landed estate, but only to the moveable property and pension; the widow of Venkata Gunda Row was recognized as the lawful heir, and, in 1827, the estates were made over to her under the sanction of Government. She managed the same till Fusly 1242, when, in consequence of the famine which then prevailed, the peishcush fell into arrears, and the estate was attached by the Collector.

7. In the year 1836 when the other Zemindaries, which were before that time under attachment, were surrendered to their proprietors, Malrauze Lakshmiah petitioned the authorities for the restoration of her state also; but the Government declined to sanction the restoration, on account of her late mismanagement, as recorded in the Board's Proceedings, dated 2nd December 1833. The estates thus continued under Government management until they finally reverted to Government in 1846.

8. A monthly pension of Rupees 1,000 was afterwards granted to M. Lakshmiah for her support during her life-time.

9. The topes and gardens now under reference were also ordered to be continued to M. Lakshmiah for her life, free of any demand, except for such parts as might be brought under wet or dry cultivation.

10. On the 3rd September 1855, Lakshmiah died, and, in reporting the same, the Collector of the late Guntoor District recommended to the Commissioner of the late Northern Circars that the allowance enjoyed by the deceased should be continued to her grandson Venkata Condul Row, the present applicant; but, under the circumstances stated in Extract from Minutes of Consultation, dated 20th October 1855, No. 1,168, the Government declined to grant any pension at all.

11. Afterwards the Collector of the late Guntoor District resumed all the topes mentioned in paragraph 3 of my letter, No. 408, dated 11th ultimo, and Acres 40, Guntas 29, forming part of the above, having been cultivated by the ryots, were assessed and included in their put-tahs. During the late Inam inquiry, the Inam Commissioner made over the remaining Acres 108, Guntas 20 of land to the villagers as charitable gardens.

12. By the orders of Government, dated 2nd April 1864, No. 550, communicated with the Board's Proceedings of the 6th idem, the present applicant, Venkata Condul Row, was recognized as lineal heir of the Malrauze family, and an allowance of Rupees 800 a month was bestowed on him, and to be continued to his lineal male descendants agreeably to orders from Home authorities.

13. Venkata Condul Row bases his claim to the gardens as heir of the deceased Lakshmiah, with reference to the above orders.

Proceedings of the Board of Revenue thereon, dated 13th June 1867,
No. 3,636.

The Board resolve to refer the foregoing letter to the Inam Commissioner, and to ask him to inform them whether he considered the claims of Condul Row, and why he made over the topes to the villagers instead of to him.

Letter from the Officiating Inam Commissioner, to the Secretary to the Board of Revenue, dated Madras, 7th August 1867, No. 16.

1. I have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of the Proceedings of the Board, dated 13th June 1867, No. 3,636.

2. In 1856, the Collector of the District decided that the resumed topes of the Malrauze family should be placed beyond the control of the petitioner Condul Row, and that their proceeds should be appropriated for the public benefit. Consequently, the claims of the petitioner were not taken into consideration by this department, and the title-deeds, which were issued to the manager for the time being, were ordered to be delivered to the managers of the topes, should any have been appointed, and if not, to be sent the Collector.

3. The topes under notice are situated in two villages—Nakricul and Atloor. For the topes in the former village, title-deeds were issued as above-stated, but, for those in the latter village, no title-deeds have been issued. It was decided that they should be treated as Government property.

4. Since all the topes have been resumed by the Collector, I consider that the issue of title-deeds for any of them was an error. They should have been left to be disposed of by the Collector. If they can be confirmed as public charity topes, I entertain no doubt of the propriety and justice of making them over to the petitioner Condul Row, and delivering the title-deeds to him.

Proceedings of the Board of Revenue thereon, dated 17th September 1867, No. 5,951.

1. Looking to the terms on which the topes were held by Malrauze Lakshmiah, the Board consider that Condul Row has no right to the cultivated part of the land which has been included in puttahs, and that he cannot claim to enjoy the remainder rent-free, but they consider it clear that he should be allowed to take it, if he chooses, on a moderate assessment.

2. The Collector will accordingly forward the title-deeds, which are probably still in his possession, to the Inam Commissioner, for the purpose of being cancelled, and will announce to Condul Row the terms on which he is prepared, in accordance with these Proceedings, to put him in possession of the topes.

3. The result should be reported for the information of the Board.

Letter from the Collector of the Kistna District, to the Secretary to the Board of Revenue, dated Circuit Cutcherry at Chinna Ganjam, in Bapatla Talook, 15th April 1868, No. 121.

1. Adverting to paragraph 1 of the Board's Proceedings, No. 5,951, dated 17th September last, I have the honour to state, for the information of the Board, that the whole of the charitable gardens applied for by Rajah Malrauze Venkata Condul Row, were Acres 150-50* in extent, according to the present account, of which Acres 53-65 were cultivated and assessed, and included in the puttahs of the cultivators. To this portion Condul Row has no claim at all. The remaining portions are Acres 96-85† in extent: they are situated in the villages of Atloor, Nakricul, and Inumella. The assessment on these gardens, according to the present rates, is Rupees 135-1-9‡.

2. The late Acting Collector, Mr. Wilson, communicated to Condul Row the orders of the Board, and also intimated to him that the last named gardens will be put in his possession in the event of his agreeing to pay three-fourths of the assessment now fixed on them subject to revision, when the new settlement rates are introduced, as shown below :—

		Shist as at present fixed.			Settlement Shist.
		RS.	A.	P.	RS.	A.	P.
		135	1	9	169	3	0
Deduct three-fourths	...	101	5	4	126	14	3
Condul Row's share	...	33	12	5	42	4	9

3. In his reply, Condul Row states his inability to take up the gardens on the condition proposed by Mr. Wilson.

4. He states further that, as the gardens are at present in a ruined state, it will require much money to restore them and render them available for charitable purposes; he lastly proposes to take them on half assessment. It amounts to Rupees 67-8-10 and Rupees 84-9-6 respectively, as shown below :—

		Shist according to present rates			Settlement Shist.
		RS.	A.	P.	RS.	A.	P.

Condul Row's share	...	67	8	11	84	9	6
Total	...	135	1	9	169	3	0

5. With reference to the opinion of the Board that a moderate assessment should be fixed on these garden lands, I think the proposition of Condul Row is a fair one.

6. The number of fruit trees now standing in each of the gardens is shown below. The average number of trees in each acre is 14 :—

Villages.				No. of Gardens.	Extent of Land.		No. of Trees.
					A.	C.
Atloor	4	70	10	768
Nakricul	5	18	15	404
Inumella	2	8	60	200
Total	11	96	85	1,372

7. As directed in paragraph 6 of the Proceedings under acknowledgment, I beg to inform you that the title-deeds issued by the Inam Commissioner for the topes in Nakricul village have been cancelled, and the lands incorporated with Government lands.

Proceedings of the Board of Revenue thereon, dated 9th July 1868,
No. 5,032.

The Board resolve to submit these papers for the orders of Government, and to recommend that the topes and gardens referred to, with the exception of such parts of them as are included in puttah holdings, be made over to Condul Kow on half assessment.

Order of Government thereon, 3rd August 1868, No. 2,075.

1. The Board of Revenue submit a report from the Collector of the Kistna District on the subject of making over certain topes to Rajah Malrauze Venkata Condul Row, for charitable purposes.

2. From their Proceedings of 17th September 1867, it appears that Condul Row has a fair claim to the topes in question on a moderate assessment, inasmuch as he is the heir of the late proprietress Malrauze Lakshmiah, to whom they were granted rent-free for life.

3. That portion of them which has been cultivated and assessed cannot, of course, be resumed, but the remainder may be made over to Condul Row, as recommended by the Board, on payment of half assessment.

(Signed) R. A. DALYELL,
Acting Secretary to Government.

EXTRACTS FROM THE REPORTS OF THE EXAMINERS.

From H. MORRIS, Esq., Examiner in Norton's Law of Evidence, and Mahomedan Law.

"With regard to the papers on the Law of Evidence I have but few remarks to make. The general impression left on my mind after the perusal of all the papers is, that the great majority of the candidates have got up the subject by means of an abridgment or an analysis, and not by the patient study of the text-book itself. The best paper, and indeed the only one which obtained the maximum of marks, was the production of No. 2612, a candidate examined at Madras. Single papers of much excellence came from places so far apart as Chetterpore, Calicut, and Kurnool; but there was no marked proficiency in any particular locality.

"I have examined with peculiar care the papers from Rajahmundry and Nellore, which you forwarded to me under a separate cover from the rest with your letter No. 367, of the 11th of September, as it was suspected that they had been tampered with. I have not been able to discover any signs of their having been corrected, or of other papers having been substituted for those originally placed in the packets.

"In one or two instances I have discovered that one candidate has copied from another, who must have been seated next to him, from their both having used peculiar phrases which could not have been obtained from any book previously studied by both, and retained in the memory. The only notable instance of this, that I can now recollect, is the case of Nos. 536 and 537. It is, of course, very difficult to detect such cases of copying; and it is still more difficult to detect instances of copying where the very words of the text-book are used, as many of the candidates have most excellent memories, and are able to remember accurately selected passages which have been previously learnt.

"The papers in Mahomedan Law were written in five languages. The English and Telugu I read myself; the Tamil were read out to me; the Canarese were read out and interpreted; and the Malayalam were forwarded to the Malayalam Translator to Government, who kindly permitted his Munshi to write translations, which I examined and valued. The Tamil papers were far more numerous than any others. 228 came from the Tanjore District alone, being exactly 100 more than the whole of the Telugu papers; and, in that district, 110 came from Combaconum, most of the candidates being anxious to obtain appointments as Pleaders in the District Munsiffs' Courts. I would bring to notice the suggestive fact that, although the subject was Mahomedan Law, the number of Mahomedan candidates was only ten."

From J. R. KINDERSLEY, Esq., Examiner in the Law of Evidence, Lower Grade.

"I have not observed any marked difference between the results of this and of previous examinations. But I think that those who have written their answers in the vernacular have been more successful than before. On the other hand, while the average is higher, there seem to be fewer papers remarkably well done. The young men examined at Madras, and at Combaconum, Tanjore, and other places in the southern districts, have, as usual, done the best."

From J. H. NELSON, Esq., Examiner in Code of Civil Procedure, Higher and Lower Grades, and Hindu Law.

"On the whole I consider the papers to have been somewhat better done this year than last, but I again have to regret the prevalence of the same deplorable practice amongst candidates from all parts of the country, of attempting to learn the test-books by-heart instead of acquiring an intelligent general knowledge of their several contents. In this respect I am sorry to say, I see no signs of improvement, several of the questions set, although perfectly simple in themselves, such as, How is a suitor affected by his plaint being rejected? have been rightly answered by scarcely one of the candidates; because so framed as to necessitate the taking together two or three distinct provisions of the Law, and thoughtfully working out the answer.

"The English writing candidates have done far better than the others. As far as mere memory goes, many of them have done well. But I am unable to say that a single man has got or deserved full marks, or that a single answer paper shows signs of any considerable promise. None rise above mediocrity.

"With regard to Hindu Law, as great changes, in what is so called, have been introduced by the High Court during the last few years, and candidates must necessarily be much confused by these changes, I would suggest the advisability of examining, in future, in certain selected cases reported in the High Court Reports. Sir Thomas Strange's work is now well nigh obsolete, and quite below the level of modern inquiry, and I cannot but think it unwise to hold it up to candidates as the be-all and end-all of Hindu Law.

"In the Civil Procedure Code I cannot help thinking the examination covers too much ground. No student can be expected to master the whole code, and many parts of it are rarely turned to in practice."

From E. F. WEBSTER, Esq., Examiner in Criminal Procedure Code, Higher and Lower Grades, Civil Rules of Practice, Law of Torts, and Goldsmith's Equity.

"I regret that I am unable to point to any locality in which the candidates have shown a marked proficiency in any subject.

"Speaking generally of the papers, I must say the answers were unsatisfactory.

"In the Criminal Procedure Code, I often found the candidates wonderfully accurate in giving the number of the section in which the answer to the question lay, but the answer itself was generally given loosely and inaccurately.

"There is also on the part of the candidates a very strong desire to be examined in the English language. Every lad who can string a few English words together seems to think he is competent to write an English paper in a Law Examination, and the consequence is, that many papers are written with a total disregard of the rules of spelling, and in an idiom apparently the offspring of the candidate's own brain.

"One striking fact has come to my knowledge during the examination of these papers. I find that if a candidate of any given locality falls into an error in answering a question, all other candidates of the same locality are pretty certain to fall into the same error, e. g., in the 4th question on the Criminal Procedure Code, Lower Grade, the candidates were asked where a prisoner could be tried, who was sentenced to imprisonment in Tinnevely and removed by Government to the Salem Jail, from whence he escaped and was recaptured in Tanjore. Here a mere knowledge of the numbers of the sections will not help a candidate much. The question requires a little thought, the answer being that the prisoner might be tried in any one of the three districts, but I invariably found that if one candidate fixed on any one of the three districts as the proper place to hold the trial, all other candidates would follow suit, and give the same answer.

"Possibly a little stricter supervision by the local Superintendents would prevent this happening in future.

"The Equity papers generally were very bad, and one candidate, (a Pleader in a Munsiff's Court,) at the bottom of an exceedingly bad paper, informed me that he had given his answers without ever having read the text-book. Touching appeals to the mercy of the Examiner are frequently made, and the dire poverty of the candidate urged as a reason why he should be allowed to slip through.

"I mention this as I think it serves to show that amongst the candidates we must expect to find a class of men, of no attainments whatever, but who, knowing that the only road to a successful career lies through the Uncovenanted Civil Service Examination, have determined to try their luck, and to trust to the eas conscience of the Examiner; hence it is that so many candidates are plucked year after year."

From F. BRANDT, Esq., Examiner in Penal Code, Higher and Lower Grades.

"As to the general character of the answers, the Higher Standard papers are, on the whole, decidedly more satisfactory than the Lower: there is more intelligence displayed in the answers in the Higher Grade: the answers in the Lower Grade are, I think, inferior to those I have seen in former years.

"The Malayalum and Canarese* papers are noticeably meagre; and, in the former papers, the answers to the second question, (which is an important question for which the highest marks were obtainable,) were with very few exceptions wrongly given in consequence of the question being misunderstood; that is to say, the answers gave the cases in which culpable homicide does amount to murder not the exceptional cases in which it does not. I thought the translation of the question might have been defective, but as far as I could judge it was not, and the translator who read over the answers to me assures me that there is no excuse for mistake. A similar mistake was not generally made in the other papers, whether English, Tamil, Telugu, or Canarese.

"Where remarks have been made in the Superintendent's Memoranda accompanying the papers, I have placed the Memoranda in the mark list, and made a note in the margin, calling attention to the Superintendent's remarks."

From J. F. PRICE, Esq., Examiner in Revenue Regulations and Circular Orders of the Board of Revenue, Higher and Lower Grades.

"The results of the examination were on the whole fair, and the papers of the candidates in Vernacular were much superior to those of last year. The improvement in knowledge of the Circular Orders was particularly marked, and I have observed all throughout the English papers an advance in orthography and style. In some instances the candidates, instead of pouring out a quantity of "cram," showed that they really understood their subjects. These cases were however few and far between; the majority of the Examinees displayed the wonderful talent which Hindus have of being able to carry, for a limited period in their memories, an immense mass of matter without understanding how to apply to it."

From S. VIJIARAGAVOOLOO CHETTY, Examiner in Précis-Writing, Higher and Lower Grades.

"The total number of papers valued by me is 1131, 880 of the Higher, and 251 of the Lower Grade; and the number passed is 370 of the former, and 157 of the latter, or 42 and 62 per cent. respectively.

"These results are, in my opinion, highly satisfactory. The proportion of successful candidates in the Higher Grade in the previous year was 37. The increase of five per cent. in 1868 is a reasonable improvement. I found a considerable change for the better in the general style of the papers, but as in previous years I noticed several instances in which the candidates, though capable of writing a better paper, have failed from not having taken sufficient pains to master the subject, or from great haste.

"Now that the art of Précis-Writing is so well understood throughout the Presidency, I think it would be advisable to make the test more difficult for the higher appointments, such as Deputy Collectors, Tahsildars, Uncovenanted Assistants, and Head Clerks, and give a comparatively easy paper to those who seek to qualify themselves for subordinate Clerkships.

"There is a remarkable improvement in the Vernacular or Lower Grade Précis-Writing. In 1868, 157 candidates passed out of 251 examined, or 62 per cent. against 38 out of 249, or only 15 per cent. in 1867. In my letter, dated 27th January 1868, I explained that the Vernacular copies of my pamphlet on Précis-Writing were not ready in time to be useful to the candidates previous to the examination of 1867. I believe the book has been much used in 1868."

From Major T. G. M. LANE, Examiner in Translation Papers in Telugu.

"I have no particular remarks to offer on the merits of these papers; they very much resemble those of last year, the great majority of them being very inferior, and a few very fair."

Papers relating to the General Test Examinations of 1869.

NOTIFICATION.

The Commissioner for the Uncovenanted Civil Service Examinations gives notice that the next Annual Examination (according to the General Test prescribed by Government Notification, dated 26th April 1861) of candidates for employment in the Uncovenanted Civil Service, will be held on the 8th and two following days of February 1869 at the following places :—

Chetterpore,	Bellary,	Combaconum,	Cochin,
Chicacole,	Nellore,	Tranquebar,	Calicut,
Vizagapatam,	Chittoor,	Tanjore,	Cannanore,
Rajahmundry,	Madras,	Trichinopoly,	Mangalore,
Masulipatam,	Cuddalore,	Madura,	Bangalore, and
Kurnool,	Salem,	Palamcottah,	Ootacamund.
Cuddapah,	Coimbatore,	Trevandrum,

2. Candidates must send in their applications on printed Forms, which may be obtained from all Tahsildars and Treasury Deputy Collectors, on payment of the prescribed fee. The Forms of Application must reach the Collectors of the Districts*, in which candidates desire to be examined, on or before the 15th November 1868. Under no circumstances will applications received after that date be accepted.

3. Candidates must be not less than eighteen years old, and must pay to the Officer from whom they obtain the form of Application a fee of NOTE.—For Trevandrum and Cochin, the applications should be sent to the Resident of Travancore, and for Bangalore to the Director of Public Instruction, Mysore.

Rupees 6, a receipt for which will be given on the face of the Form which is supplied to them. The fee must be paid in every case without exception. No fee will be returned under any circumstances, unless the candidate is prevented from attending the examination by some action on the part of an Officer of Government, when the case may be submitted to the Commissioner for orders.

4. No application will be received unless it is accompanied by a certificate, signed by a Medical Officer or Medical Subordinate of the rank given in the margin, showing that the candidate has been vaccinated, or has had the small-pox. In the case, however, of candidates who produced certificates at any of the examinations held in 1864, 1865, 1866, 1867, or 1868, no further voucher of this description will be necessary; but this exemption does not extend to certificates which may have been obtained in years prior to 1864. Candidates will not be permitted to produce their vaccination certificates on the day of examination.

5. Candidates who have passed at a previous examination the Test in Arithmetic, History, and Geography will not be required to pass a further examination in those subjects in the event of their applying to be examined in a second language at the ensuing examination.

6. Candidates will be required to execute the Arithmetic Paper in English figures; no marks will be given for any answers which are executed in Vernacular figures. In the paper on "Handwriting" in all languages the words must be written separately, a space being left before and after each word, and the writing must be plain.

7. Candidates should write their names, their fathers' names, and their house names distinctly, and in full, on the top of each sheet of the answer paper, as well as on the heading of the question paper. Native candidates, who prepare their applications in the English language, should write their names and their fathers' names in the Vernacular character as well as in English.

8. To facilitate reference, those candidates who have already passed the Uncovenanted Civil Service Examination, or any University Examination, or the Teachers' Certificate Examination of the 5th and 6th Grades under the old rules, or the 3rd Grade under the rules at present in force, should specify in their application the year in which they passed, and the page, &c., of the Gazette containing their names.

9. No candidate will be admitted to the examination at any other place than that named in his application.

As it is the object of poetry to give pleasure, it would seem to be a pretty safe conclusion that that poetry must be best which gives the greatest pleasure to the greatest number of persons, yet we must pause a little before we give assent to so plausible a proposition. It would not be quite correct to say that those are invariably the best judges who are the most easily pleased. The great multitude, even of the reading world, must necessarily be uninstructed and injudicious; and will frequently be found, not only to derive pleasure from what is worthless in finer eyes, but to be quite insensible to those beauties which afford the most exquisite delight to more cultivated understandings

True pathos and sublimity will indeed charm every one; but, out of this lofty sphere, we are convinced, that the poetry which appears most perfect to a very refined taste, will not often turn out to be very popular poetry.

MISSPELLING.

Won of the most promminant peculearates in the Quaker customs relaits to there langwidg. They incist, in the furst plaice, upon saying thou insted of you; and this was an inovayshun upon wich there fownder seams to have vallew'd himself as much as upon yany other part of his sistam. The yuce of "thow" ses honnest George Fox, with vizabul complaisency "was a soar cut to prow'd flesh!" and menny beetings and revylings, and ours of endewrence in the stocks did he triumfuntlie yendewr far his intripp'd udhearunce to this gramatticle propriaty. Ecsept that it is (or rarthur was) gramattically kurrekt, wo really can sea no merrit in this farm of speach. The cheaf Quaker reezun for it, however, is that the yuce of "you" to a singul purson is a hienus peace of flatturrie, and an instunse of the meenest adewlayshun. If prinses aloan were cald "you" wile "thou" was still yused to infeariurs or eakwuls, we cood understand why the levveling principal of the Quakers should set itself agenst the distingshun; but if "you" be yinvairiubly and indiskrimminitley used to the lowest of mankind—to neegrows and felluns—it is purfektly obveyus that no pursen's vannety can posseibly be puft up by receeving it, and that the most kontemtewus mesanthroppist may yemploy it without skrewpul. Comparing the sed pronownce togethur, indeid, in this respekt, "thou" is by far the most flattering moad of adress of the too. EXTRACTS FROM THE REPORTS OF THE EXAMINERS.

From J. T. FOWLER, Esq., Examiner in English Hand-writing.

“The marks speak for themselves, and I have little to add in the way of remark. Knowing forty to be the minimum required for passing, I have given that number to every candidate that I considered qualified.

“Should objection have been by any taken to the length of the exercise, my plan of marking takes away all force from such objection, as any good writer who correctly reproduced something less than one-half has been passed.

"I may mention, for the information of the Commissioner, that, about the time of the examination, when I was up-country, a School-master, in a conversation on the University and Uncovenanted Service Examinations, said that, while confidence was felt in the former, there was a very general impression that, in the latter, it was a matter of chance whether a boy passed or not, as the papers were not properly read and valued. I did not hesitate to say that I thought the view entirely erroneous; but I remembered the remarks; and as I went on with valuing the Madras papers, I became convinced that several of the writers had written their papers under the belief that they would not be read. In the paper the following occurs:—"The result is an additional revenue to Government of Rupees 1,10,413, while the cost of the commission for the year did not exceed Rupees 1,35,329. Several wrote this:—"The result was an additional revenue to Government of Rupees 1,35,329." And there are others of the same kind, where the slip is evidently intentional, and made, as I think, on the conviction that the writing would be glanced at and not read.

"I made a point of rejecting every candidate who made this attempt, as, if intentional, the attempt condemned him; and, if unintentional, he was not qualified as a writer. But from the number of cases, I was convinced that it was no mere accident; and I feel a satisfaction in saying that I believe no case escaped me; and the would-be deceivers have been taken in their own trap. Where, on the other hand, a candidate accidentally skipped, and then crossed out what was wrong, and went on correctly, I made but a small deduction for the slip.

"In many cases the numbers were not written in words as ordered. This greatly reduced both the length and the difficulty of the exercise, and it was some time before I could satisfy myself as to how to deal with such papers, so as to be fair to other candidates. I at last argued it thus:—"A candidate who writes the whole, keeping the figures, could, in the same time, have written at least a half with the numbers in words he therefore deserves half marks, if everything else is correct." Acting on this I gave such papers fifty marks, or so many less as other errors and the general character of the writing made necessary. It is true that such candidates still had an advantage over others, as they might have been unable to write the large numbers in words. This I could not see how to obviate except by entirely rejecting all who had failed to write the numbers in words, a course which would have involved the rejection of some good writers. So I adopted what seemed the fairest plan on the whole, and it may be said generally that a candidate put himself in a dangerous position when he neglected the directions, and stood but a small chance of passing, unless his hand-writing was very good.

"In doubtful cases I have given the candidates the benefit of the doubt.

“ Only three stations call for particular remark. ”

“ At Madras the number of attempts at cheating by skipping was greater, as well relatively as absolutely than at any other station. At several stations there were no such attempts.

“ Had the candidates been judged by the way in which they wrote their names, instead of by their papers, at least five times as many would have been rejected, their autographs being mostly mere ‘intemperate scribbles.’ ”

From the Rev. J. BAMFORTH, Examiner in English Grammar and Composition.

“ BANGALORE.—Out of 153 papers, two candidates have obtained more than two-third marks; six, half marks or more; twenty-three, one-third or more; seventy-eight, less than the minimum: very fair. The majority failed in punctuation, paraphrasing, correction of sentences, and very many in parsing.

“ BELLARY.—Out of seventy candidates, two have obtained two-third marks or more, one, more than half; nine, one-third or more; thirty-five, less than the minimum: very fair. Many candidates did very little. Majority failed in punctuation, parsing, and correction of sentences. Several attempted the paraphrase, and did it very fairly.

“ CALCUT.—Out of seventy-three candidates, not one has obtained two-third marks, four have half or more; three, one-third or more; forty-five, less than the minimum: unsatisfactory. A great majority have no knowledge of punctuation or paraphrasing, and a great many do not understand the meaning of the word ‘italics.’

“ CANNANORE.—Out of sixty-four candidates, not one has obtained half marks; two have one-third or more; the large number of forty-two less than the minimum. unsatisfactory. Majority failed in punctuation, correction of sentences, parsing, giving the corresponding nouns, and a great many have attempted to write the poetry in prose order for a paraphrase.

“ CHETTERPORE.—Out of forty-one candidates, not one has obtained two-third marks; one has over half; four, over one-third; twenty-three, less than the minimum: fair. Majority failed in parsing, correction of sentences, punctuation, and paraphrasing. The Superintendent states in the memo that “the word ‘italics’ was explained,” but it does not appear that the explanation was given to all, as several have attempted to parse all the words.

“ CHICACOLE.—Out of twenty-three candidates, not one has obtained half marks; one has over one-third; twelve, less than the minimum: poor. A great majority have done very little.

"CHITTOOR.—Out of 138 candidates, not one has obtained two-third marks; two have over half; ten, one-third or more; seventy-eight, less than the minimum: unsatisfactory. Several did the punctuation and correction of sentences very fairly; but the majority failed in these subjects as well as in paraphrasing and parsing. A large number did not seem to know the meaning of 'italics.'

"CUDDAPAH.—Out of seventy-six candidates, one has obtained two-third marks; three, half or more; nine, one-third or more; thirty-nine, less than the minimum: fair. Great majority failed in punctuation, parsing, paraphrasing, correction of sentences.

"CUDDALORE.—Out of ninety-seven candidates, two have obtained more than two-third marks; one, half; eight, one-third or more; fifty-nine, less than the minimum: unsatisfactory. Great majority failed in punctuation, parsing, paraphrasing, correction of sentences. Several did not know the meaning of 'italics;' and a great many explained the words 'as used here,' in addition to the expressions in inverted commas.

"COCHIN.—Out of ten candidates, not one has obtained two-third marks; one has half marks; three, one-third or more; two, less than the minimum: very fair. Majority failed in correction of sentences. The other questions were answered pretty well.

"COMBACONUM.—Out of forty-four candidates, not one has obtained two-third marks; four have over half marks; four, one-third or more; nineteen, less than the minimum: very fair. The majority of the candidates answered the questions they attempted accurately.

"KURNOOL.—Out of thirty-four candidates, not one has obtained one-third marks; twenty-five have less than the minimum: bad. Nearly all the candidates answered the questions very indifferently.

"MASULIPATAM.—Out of eighty-two candidates, not one has obtained half marks; three have just over one-third; fifty, less than the minimum: very poor. A great majority have done very little: Some have written compositions on various subjects, explained 'as used here,' and many seem not to have understood the questions at all. The Superintendent notes that 'each question paper was used by two candidates.' I found no suspicion of copying.

"MADURA.—Out of seventy-six candidates, not one has obtained two-third marks; one has over half; six, one-third or more; forty-two, less than the minimum: fair. A great many, instead of giving the corresponding nouns as required in the last question, have formed sentences to bring in the given words. The punctuation was well done by the majority, but they failed in the other questions.

"MANGALORE.—Out of fifty-one candidates, not one has obtained two-third marks; one has just over half; six have one-third or more; twenty-four, less than the minimum: very fair. The majority failed in parsing, correction of sentences, paraphrasing, and substitution of nouns.

"NELLORE.—Out of fifty-nine candidates, not one has obtained two-third marks; one has just over half; four have one-third or more; the large number of forty, less than the minimum: unsatisfactory. The majority have done very little, instead of giving corresponding nouns, have either given the meaning of the words, or formed sentences to bring them in. The Superintendent notes in the Memorandum 'that in question 2, it was explained that the words in italics were those written in a slanting manner, also that the whole passage of ten lines had to be parsed, and the whole turned into English prose.' The candidates do not seem to have derived much benefit from the explanation.

"OOTACAMUND.—Out of nineteen candidates, one has obtained two-third marks; three have half or more; two have over one-third; six, less than the minimum: good. The papers from this station were, on the whole, very carefully and neatly written.

• "PALAMCOTTAH.—Out of 136 candidates, two have obtained two-third marks or more; three, half or more; twenty, one-third or more; seventy-four, less than the minimum: fair. Several candidates have done little more than copy the questions: some have written letters on various subjects instead of paraphrasing. Majority failed in punctuation, parsing, paraphrasing, correction of sentences.

"RAJAHMUNDY.—Out of 128 candidates, not one has obtained half marks; seven have one-third or more; seventy-four, less than the minimum: poor. A great many have done little. Majority failed in parsing, paraphrasing, and giving corresponding nouns: punctuation and correction of sentences were fairly done by many.

"SALEM.—Out of ninety-eight candidates, not one has obtained two-third marks; two have half marks or more; thirteen, one-third or more; fifty-seven, less than the minimum: fair. Nearly all failed in punctuation. The majority in parsing, paraphrasing, and the correction of sentences. Several have attempted to explain the expression 'as used here;' parsed, the words in inverted commas; and written compositions on various subjects (evidently learned by-heart beforehand) instead of the paraphrase.

"SECUNDERABAD.—Out of eight candidates, not one has obtained one-third marks; seven have less than the minimum: very unsatisfactory. Very little done, and that little badly.

"TANJORE.—Out of 111 candidates, not one has obtained two-third marks; one has over half; five have one-third or more; sixty-four, less than the minimum: unsatisfactory. Several candidates have written composition on various subjects, and formed sentences to bring in the given word, instead of giving the corresponding noun. A great majority did badly in all the questions.

"TRANQUEBAR.—Out of twenty-seven candidates, not one has obtained half marks; two have over one-third; fifteen, less than the minimum: poor. The majority failed in all the questions.

"TRICHINOPOLY.—Out of 142 candidates, not one has obtained two-third marks; three have half or more; ten, one-third or more; ninety-nine, less than the minimum: unsatisfactory: Majority failed in punctuation, parsing, paraphrasing, correction of sentences, giving the noun forms. A great many have done very little, and that little badly.

"TREVANDRUM.—Out of fifty-six candidates, not one has obtained two-third marks; one has over half; six, over one-third; sixteen, less than the minimum: very fair. The majority did the punctuation and corrected the sentences satisfactorily, though they failed in answering the other questions.

"VIZAGAPATAM.—Out of ninety-two candidates, not one has obtained two-third marks; only one, half marks; six, one-third or more; forty-six, less than the minimum: fair. The majority corrected the sentences very creditably, but failed in parsing, punctuation, and paraphrasing.

"COIMBATORE.—Out of 147 candidates, not one has obtained two-third marks; four have half or more; nine, over one-third; eighty-seven, less than the minimum: fair. The majority failed in punctuation, parsing, paraphrasing, and correction of sentences.

"MADRAS.—Out of 785 candidates, three have obtained two-third marks or more; ten, half or more; thirty-six, one-third or more; five hundred and fifty-three, less than the minimum: not a very brilliant result. With a few exceptions the candidates at this station have written a great deal, but to little purpose, their knowledge of the subject evidently being inaccurate. The majority failed in their answers to nearly all the questions."

From B. LOVERY, Esq., Examiner in English Spelling and Dictation.

"I do not know what the results were in this subject in previous examinations, but I must say that, on the present occasion, they are extremely unsatisfactory.

"It appears to me that candidates presented themselves for examination relying more upon chance for success than on their fitness for the examination. It is only upon this supposition that I can account for the character of some of the papers that I had to examine.

"They contained nothing but a mass of letters strung together without any attempt at the formation of intelligible words.

"Most of the papers were disfigured by errors in spelling, which I was surprised to find made by men who aspire to respectable situations in the Government Service. And I do not think, I say this from personal experience in the education of Native young men, that the Dictation or Spelling paper set this year is more difficult than it ought to be. It is my impression that a man, who is unable to spell correctly most of these words, is disqualified for admission into the Uncovenanted Civil Service."

From W. MORGAN, Esq., Examiner in English Geography.

"From the enclosed table it will be seen that the candidates in the Anglo-Vernacular Branch have done much better than those in the English Branch; for while—in the former test	...	584	passed	and	528	failed.

in the latter	230	do.		397	do.
making a total of	...	814	do.		930	failed.

"The average number of marks gained throughout the Presidency is 18·7 per cent; but, if the Madras numbers be excluded, the per-centage of marks obtained at the other stations is found to be considerably higher, being 22·7, while Madras alone only obtains 14·7.

"This falling off amongst those who were re-examined seems to be partly attributable to the difference in the questions; for, in the second examination, two of the questions required drawings, and one was entirely on India; and these two are the failing points in both examinations. Throughout the whole of the papers there was but one satisfactory map drawn; and not a single candidate displayed a fair knowledge of his own country.

"The stations which stand highest, as regards the average number of marks obtained, are, Cochin, Chicacole, Salem, Palamecottah, and Chittoor, each of which has gained more than twenty-seven per cent. The lowest are Secunderabad, Madras, Cannanore, and Calicut. Considering the large number of candidates at Bangalore, Bellary, and Tanjore, those stations have also done remarkably well."

From C. W. PEARCE, Esq., Examiner in English History.

"The papers call for no special remarks.

"Few candidates have succeeded in gaining high marks. Many have just obtained the minimum.

"It will be seen, however, that a large proportion has succeeded in passing; but this is owing to the fact that a candidate may do so by merely gaining one-fifth of the maximum, i. e., twenty marks."

From G. P. SAVUNDRANAYAGAM Pillai, Examiner in Tamil Grammar and Composition and Spelling.

"Grammar and Composition.—In this subject, the candidates acquitted themselves very fairly. Unlike the answers sent in last year, the paraphrases were done very well, and the questions on Grammar were generally well answered.

"Mis-spelling.—The paper on this subject was also answered satisfactorily.

"The following Tabular statement shows the number of candidates examined in each subject, the number passed, and the per-centage of the latter :—

Subject.	No. of Candidates examined.	No. of Candidates passed.	Per-centage of Passed Candidates
Grammar and Composition...	1,519	830	54
Mis-spelling	1,513	688	45

From W. JOYES, ESQ., Examiner in Tamil Arithmetic.

"The questions are about the most simple that have been set at such examinations; but they do not seem to have in any way reduced the proportion of failures; indeed the number, likely to be rejected this year, appears to me to be somewhat larger for the Presidency generally, as well as in the case of each station individually.

"I suppose the University Examinations annually draw off more and more of the better educated class; and the strict system of valuation adopted on Arithmetic and other essential subjects, whereby the marks gained indicate rather position, with reference to excellence and perfection, than absolute practical knowledge, brings down the number able to pass among those left, to a minimum.

"Question 1 on the paper was one of simple copying, with a trifle of addition and subtraction, and a single item of enumeration, much more conciliating than the sort of thing usually set to test knowledge of elementary principles, and yet close upon half of the Presidency, was not up to it.

"Only four candidates in the whole Presidency got wisely through the different portions of the second question, according to the model supplied; and of consequence just these obtained full marks. The others introduced no end of reduction, ascending and descending, of long multiplication by 12, and long division by 4, 12, and 16, covering often three and four pages of paper.

"Similar extensive deviation, from the shortest and most rational course, prevailed in the solution of the third question also.

"The plain division sum, forming question 4, did not help forward nearly as many as should have taken advantage of it. The majority either stopped short with the portion involving Rupees, or withheld the working, despite the strong caution administered.

"And if question 5 was designed to bring out and reward superior intelligence, I regret to have to report that the Presidency generally had none of the commodity to produce. Twenty-nine out of thirty shirked the test, and only two satisfactory answers came in, one from Coimbatore, the other from Madura. A Tanjore man, after elaborate calculation, discovered that 'eighteen hundred policemen and two over could receive 350 rupees among them, being at the rate of 7 rupees per man.'

"The last sum, like the second, afforded opportunity for a display of lines, symbols and figures, and was not spared.

"Bangalore, Chittoor, Palamcottah, Salem, Coimbatore, and Madras ran the full length of the tether; only one candidate at Bangalore, two from Cuddalore, one in Madura, one in Salem, two each at Tranquebar and Trichinopoly, and one from Coimbatore—ten, that is, in all Madras, went rationally to work; and a very fair idea of the standing of the candidates, generally in regard to Arithmetic, may be formed from the fact that four only even of this diminutive minority merited and obtained full marks.

"Questions 2, 5, and 6 occasioned greatest loss to the Examinees in the way of marks.

"In Bangalore, the failures in the Vernacular Branch are excessive.

"Combaconum has fallen off; a simple signature constituted one of the answers submitted.

"Gross carelessness characterizes Palamcottah generally; four papers had to be marked with Os; and several who have done their Arithmetic fairly are, I fear, likely to fail in Dictation. 187 were examined, the largest number at any one place.

"Only two out of thirty-four 'Vernacular' candidates have got through at Salem, which has the further discredit of the highest percentage of failure in the Presidency. Reduction, re-reduction, long multiplication, and long division, favorite processes.

"Tanjore has done indifferently; long multiplication and division as at Salem.

"Two ciphers occur in the Tranquebar list; and one paper contained answers alone.

"Trichinopoly, always poor, has not improved. The answers betoken thoughtlessness, ignorance, and disregard of system and arrangement. The only station disfigured by confusion of numbers and names.

"Coimbatore resorted to blotting where the correctness of figures was doubted. Three candidates received ciphers, one just signing his name.

"Though the results in Madras are short of what one would expect from a Presidency town,—one-half of those who came forward to be examined have succeeded.

"I append a Table showing the per-centage of failure in each district—

In Bangalore..... 63 per cent. have failed.

„ Chittoor 46 do.

„ Cuddapah, only one was examined. failed.

In Cuddalore	64	per cent. have failed.
„ Combaconum	61	do.
„ Kurnool, two examined.....	1	failed.
„ Madura	53	per cent. have failed.
„ Ootacamund	64	do.
„ Palamcottah	53	do.
„ Salem	67	do.
„ Tanjore.....	55	do.
„ Tranquebar	60	do.
„ Trichinopoly	58	do.
„ Coimbatore	57	do.
„ Madras.....	43	do.

“That is, in the whole Presidency, 57 per cent. of the number examined have come to grief in Arithmetic alone.”

From P. RUNGANADAM MUDALI, Examiner in Tamil History and Geography.

“A running glance at the marks will be sufficient to show that the candidates have answered the questions in History much better than the questions in Geography. There is but one exception to this general statement. Of the seventy-six candidates from Tanjore, twenty-six have passed in Geography, but only twenty-two in History.

“I am not in a position to be able to compare the results of this year's examination with the results of former years; but, absolutely speaking, the performances of the candidates, both in History and Geography, are far from being satisfactory. The candidates from Combaconum and Tranquebar have broken down thoroughly in Geography. Very few of the candidates seem to have any idea of map-drawing, and in many cases preposterous blunders were made even as to the configuration of the Continent (Asia). The question in Geography, concerning the productions of India, was answered very imperfectly.

“On a comparison of the results of the various districts, I find that the candidates from Cuddalore have surpassed all their competitors, both in History and Geography. The statement given in the succeeding page places the districts according to the order of merit :—

- | | |
|--------------------|------------------|
| 1. Cuddalore. | 6. Salem. |
| 2. Madura. | 7. Palamcottah. |
| 3. Madras. | 8. Coimbatore. |
| 4. { Tanjore. | 9. { Combaconum. |
| { Bangalore | { Tranquebar. |
| 5. { Trichinopoly. | 10. Ootacamund. |
| { Chittoor. | |

"Perhaps it may be necessary to add that in drawing up this statement, I have been guided, not by the absolute number of successful candidates, but by the ratio borne by the number of successful candidates to the whole number of candidates. Combaconum and Tranquebar have done rather badly, passing only four and three out of thirty-nine and twenty-nine. Ootacamund is decidedly the last, as not even one has succeeded out of fourteen.

"I was rather surprised to find the majority of the candidates well up in dates. In the course of the examination, I met with more than two or three instances of candidates who have answered nothing but the dates correctly. This circumstance may be accounted for by the fact, that a good many of the candidates acquire the little they know of History from Hand books and Analyses and Chronological Digests which contain a profusion of dates. I am not inclined to attribute this singular circumstance to any unfair practices on the part of the candidates, as, after a careful comparison of several papers, I found the coincidences confined to the dates given accurately, and not the dates given inaccurately. Indeed, success in the Vernacular languages is not so alluring a prize as to tempt candidates into unfair and dishonest practices. I am aware that this remark does not apply to the Anglo-Vernacular candidates, whose success in English is involved in their success in History and Geography."

From Major T. G. M. LANE, Examiner in Telugu Grammar and Composition, Spelling, and Dictation.

"I have no reason to suspect that unfair practices have been adopted, with reference to any of the papers I have examined.

"The minimum sixty of a maximum of 300 for Grammar and Composition, or one-fifth of the maximum, appears to me to be very low, and easily attainable by candidates who possess but a very meagre knowledge of those subjects.

"I think it right to mention that, in the 'Mis-spelling paper,' many of the words are so disguised, as not only to test the candidate's knowledge of spelling, but also to require of him a good deal of natural quickness, to enable him to decipher the words so altered in appearance, the consequence of this has been, that very many candidates have failed to attain the minimum number of marks.

"In the twenty-four words at the head of the 'Dictation paper,' there are twelve Sanscrit words, which the great majority of the candidates could hardly be expected to write correctly, and the remainder of the paper contains an extract from the 'Vikramarka Tales,' written in rather high or perhaps pedantic Telugu, with a large amount of Sandhi, or the combining of a word with the following one, requiring various changes in the intermediate letters ; it is, therefore, not surprising that this paper has proved a stumper to the great majority of candidates, especially when it is considered that a total minimum of 150 of a maximum of 200, for this, and the Mis-spelling paper, were required to entitle a candidate to pass in these tests of the examination. It has hitherto been usual, I believe, to give in the Dictation paper a portion of a petition, or some other subject relating to matters connected with the Government Service, and this would appear to be more suitable for candidates whose object, generally is, to obtain employment under Government."

From V. KRISHNAMA CHARRI, Examiner in Telugu Writing, History, Geography, and Arithmetic.

"The whole number of papers valued was 2,805, the highest number ever examined by me. Of these 977 were papers in Telugu Hand-writing, 626 in Telugu Arithmetic, 602 in Telugu Geography, and 600 in Telugu History. The general results may be briefly indicated thus :—

Subjects	Number examined.	Number passed.	Number failed.
Hand-writing	977	533	444
Arithmetic	626	367	259
Geography	602	210	392
History	600	345	255
Total...	2,805	1,455	1,350

"In Hand-writing I am glad to be able to report a decided improvement this year. With a few exceptions the papers received in this as well as in the other subjects were written legibly and neatly on the whole, with spaces left between words and lines, and without the introduction of needless flourishes. Though there appeared few really bad writers, yet from want of quick writing, several had marks deducted for lines omitted as well as for mis-spelling and for ignorance in regard to the abbreviations. If it was not for these deductions, the number of successful candidates in this subject would have been considerably larger.

"Arithmetic.—The paper of questions in this subject was less difficult than those of the past few years, and consequently the proportion of passed candidates is larger than usual. There were few instances of ignorance, and the average marks obtained at each station are also more satisfactory than last year. English figures, more or less neat, were almost invariably used, and excepting perhaps in the case of Rajahmundry and Cuddapah, few bare answers were put down, the working being given in the majority of the papers, though not always accurately and fully. Several who were backward in applying Arithmetic to practical questions did not work satisfactorily the 2nd, 4th, and 6th sums, frequently setting up the plea of no time, and thus failed to secure the requisite minimum of marks. In this subject, Chittoor has the distinction of ranking first and Madras next, while Vizagapatam takes the lowest place.

Geography.—The result of the examination in Geography was the least satisfactory. Very few candidates were successful with their maps, while many sent in no maps at all; and the answers to most of the questions were meagre and incorrect in matter, and deficient in arrangement. Not one of the 602 candidates examined in this subject obtained half marks, and two of the stations stand rather too low, viz., Chetterpore and Nellore.

History.—Generally speaking the answering in this subject was somewhat better than in Geography, as a glance at the annexed statement of average marks in the two subjects will show. Instances, however, of want of exactness and ignorance of facts were not wanting, and no more than two (from Cuddapah) out of 600 Examinees secured half marks. Chetterpore again occupies the lowest position in the list with some of its candidates securing no marks at all."

From E. THOMPSON, Esq., Examiner in Malayalam

"It will be seen from the accompanying list of failures and successes that the Cannanore candidates have a considerable superiority over their rivals in all papers connected with the Malayalam language, though this superiority is not so much marked in History, Geography, and Arithmetic. It appears to me that the language is better studied than it used to be as to Grammar, but I remark a great deficiency in the mass of the candidates with regard to a very essential point; that of expressing themselves clearly in the plain current language of the day. The style adopted by many of them is vicious in the extreme, and in numerous cases the spelling is most discreditable.

"You will observe a large per-centage of failures in Geography and Arithmetic; this, however, is not surprising, as these subjects are rarely studied well by pupils unacquainted with English, and these candidates who know English generally prefer to answer the questions in these branches in that language."

"The hand-writing is good on the whole; but it would be as well I think in future years to lay down a distinct rule as to the use of black lines, or permitting the candidates to rule their papers at the time of examination. In assigning marks I made deductions in the case of those who had ruled their papers, as I think it of great importance that a Clerk in an office should be able to write straight without any such adventitious aid."

From L. GARTHWAITHE, Esq., Examiner in Canarese.

"The number of candidates, and the proportion who have passed will be seen from the annexed list.

	Bangalore.		Mangalore.		Bellary.		Madras.		Cuddalore.
	Number of Candidates.	Passed.	Number of Candidates.	Passed.	Number of Candidates.	Passed.	Number of Candidates.	Passed.	Number of Candidates.	Passed.
Anglo-Vernacular	42	5	42	10	2	...	2	...	1	...
Vernacular	1	...	14	3

"The number of purely Vernacular candidates was very small, being only fifteen out of 105; and of these fifteen, only three passed. I have remarked in previous reports that these Vernacular candidates are generally men who have had no regular education, and they generally fail in all except the language subjects.

"The largest number of candidates came from Mangalore, where fifty-six candidates presented themselves, of whom fourteen were for the Vernacular Branch.

(i.) Of the above fifty-six, thirty-two per cent. failed in Hand-writing.

(The Mangalore average per-centage in that subject being fifty-three).

(ii.) Sixty per cent. failed in Spelling and Dictation.

(The Mangalore average per-centage in that subject being seventy).

(iii.) Fifty-five per cent. failed in Grammar and Composition.

(The Mangalore average per-centage of marks in that subject being eighteen.)

"The Mangalore candidates, who took their Arithmetic paper in Canarese, did very well. Nineteen passing to thirteen who failed, the candidates obtaining an average of above one-third marks on the whole. Those who did their Geography and History in Canarese also did well, the proportions of passed to failed being respectively eighteen to fourteen, and fifteen to seventeen.

"On the whole, I think Mangalore did well. Nearly one-fourth of the candidates who went up passed. The spelling too at this station was better than elsewhere, and the candidates in general paid attention to the rule which requires the separation of words.

“Bangalore presented forty-three candidates ; of these, however, one (No. 79) presented only a History paper, and another (No. 169) presented no language paper.

(i.) Of the forty-two who came up in the language subjects, eighty-one per cent. failed in Writing.

(The Bangalore average per-centage in that subject being twenty.*)

(ii.) Thirty-eight per cent. failed in Spelling.

(The Bangalore average per-centage in that subject being seventy.)

(iii.) Eighty per cent. failed in Grammar and Composition.

(The Bangalore average per-centage in that subject being eleven.)

“Most of the Bangalore candidates not only failed in paraphrasing and composition, but showed that they had never paid the least attention to the subject of Grammar, presenting a striking contrast to the Mangalore candidates, whose answers, even when wrong, showed that they had at least made the endeavour to get up the subject.

“It is unnecessary to remark on the Arithmetic, Geography or History papers from Bangalore, as only one candidate in the two first-named subjects, and two in the last, presented themselves.

“The papers of the candidates from Bellary three, Madras two, and Cuddalore one, call for little remark, as with one exception they came up only in the language subjects, and they all failed.

“I would beg to submit that candidates should be called upon to observe the rule respecting the separation of words in all their papers, instead of as at present in their writing paper only. The importance of effecting a change in this respect by substituting the European method of a clear separation of words for the barbarous native plan of running them altogether in one undecipherable whole has been admitted by Government, and it cannot be denied that if the change were made general throughout all Government offices, our native records would be made much more accessible to Europeans than they are at present. But as long as the rule above referred to is enforced only in regard to one paper, it will not be thought that any great importance is attached to it, nor is its adoption likely to become general. One advantage, and that perhaps not a slight one to be derived from extending this rule to all the papers, would be that the papers could be examined much more quickly and easily than at present.

* Thus it will be seen that the Bangalore writing was generally very bad. Many failures in this subject were caused by the candidates not paying the slightest attention to the rule which requires the separation of words, and the writing of others was a mere succession of scratches. It would be well if in the printed report if the attention of the Mysore authorities were called to this subject.
